POLPS

What is conceded to be the greatest feature of its kind ever presented in vaudeville is Everett's Monkey Hippodrome, heading the program at Polps. These simian marvels stage a complete circus in miniature, no human hand assisting them throughout the startling performance. The offering is an unusual one and bears an especial appeal for the youngsters. The feature play is "The Night of Way," presenting William Faversham, the noted legitimate star, in his screen premier. Mr. Faversham is seen to excellent advantage and is supported by a big company including Miss Jane Grey. The photoplay is an adaptation of Sir Gilbert Parker's story of the Great Northwest and is one of gripping interest.

The Kendal Weston Players in "The Servant Not in the House," have a most pleasing comedy for the first part of their closing week. The former stock stars here are most enthusiastically welcomed at every performance.

Other features of the program are Agamar & O'Brien, in songs & dances; Turner & Grace, comedy jugglers; Lew & Molly, singing and comedy skit; and Knapp & Cornelia, clever vaudevillians.

PLAZA

Billy Arnold and a bouquet of Broadway beauties in Gus Edwards' "MATINEE GIRLS" is headlining the Plaza program for to-day and those lovers of musical comedy in condensed form who have not yet taken advantage of seeing the season's best offering in this line should make a trip to the Plaza for some performance. "The Matinee Girls" is made up of six attractive young women and three men and the repertoire embraces the most popular hits of the Broadway successes including "The Girl from Utah" and "The Only Girl." A handsome scenic investiture and wardrobe enhance it greatly.

The remainder of the vaudeville is composed of Hunter & Davenport in one of the funniest skits seen locally this season and the eccentric dancing of the male member is a treat; Joe Daniels, a clever singing comedian and The Lamplines in a burlesque musical act that is too funny for words.

"The Sporting Duchess," a five part filmation of the famous story of the same name by Cecil Raleigh is a popular attraction. There is an exceedingly large cast and many thrilling scenes are elaborately staged including a horse race that is a masterpiece of realism.

Charlie Chaplin in "The Knockout," a two reel screen and "The High Cost of Flirting" are shown.

EMPIRE

The fourth instalment of the peer of all film serials, "The Broken Coin," featuring Francis Ford and Grace Cunard heads the all feature program offered at this theatre today. "A Fool There Was," a gripping, intense drama heads the all feature program for tomorrow.

Edward Jose, former leading man with the Divine Sarah and Rheda Bara the original Vampire woman portray the leading roles.

LAUNDRYMEN SEEK PLAN TO DO WASHING CHEAPLY

Portland, Ore., July 21.—The problem of how to reduce the cost of laundering so that American housewives no longer could afford to have the work done at home occupied the attention of the delegates to the convention of the Laundrymen's National association of America now in session here.

Manufacturers told the convention yesterday that this could be accomplished by a new type of laundry machinery soon to be evolved and it was thought by the delegates that this machinery also would do much in the way of meeting the competition offered the laundrymen by foreigners.

"In a few years the women of America will rise and bless the laundrymen," said William Fitch, of La Salle, Ill., president of the association.

At Last, Thank Heaven, at Last! Cried Mr. Thomas C. Brocker

Then He Rushes to Hartigan's Drug Store and Brings the Teacher. He Expelled a Tapeworm, Complete Minutes After Taking One Dose of Quaker Extract

These Continued Great Results Are Causing People From Everywhere to Call on the Health Teacher and Be Supplied With the Wonderful Quaker Remedies

Sunday, July 19th, will forever be considered an eventful day for Mr. Thomas C. Brocker because on that day he was rescued from a life of pain and misery and restored to a state of perfect health and happiness. This wonderful event was not caused by a miracle, was not chance, luck or mystery, but solely the result of the marvelous powers of a single dose of that most wonderful of all remedies, Quaker Herb Extract. This is an absolute fact, and can easily be verified. Here are the particulars:

Last Saturday morning, Mr. Brocker stepped into Hartigan's drug store to cool off and to refresh himself with a soda. He had no idea nor intention to talk with the health teacher, but hearing what others were reporting, his curiosity became aroused. He approached the health teacher and said: "I do not suppose the Quaker remedy would help me, because I have suffered from a stomach complaint for over nine years. At Providence, Boston and Springfield I received special treatment; one of these treatments required me to remain in bed nearly six weeks under the care of a nurse, but all availed nothing. Instead of getting better, I am getting worse, and I fear I will not be able to stand the misery much longer. It would be relief to me to know what really is my trouble, as doctors seem to disagree. I am getting to be a nervous wreck, am easily frightened, horrible dreams awaken me every night. I eat very little, but want to drink, drink, all the time. I have no frightful pains in my stomach, but a continual never ending gnawing sensation. I do not really think there is any cure for me, but curiosity prompts me to ask your opinion." The health teacher replied: "Quaker Extract is supposed to purify, strengthen and regulate the stomach by forcing from it all loose or movable impurities, but of course in cases of cancer, ulcer, tumor, growths or injuries I would not recommend it. In your case I would try it; it cannot harm, it is not expensive and may give results where other remedies have failed."

Mr. Brocker concluded to give it a trial. He obtained a treatment and took a dose Sunday morning, at 9 o'clock, after coming home from early mass. At ten minutes before nine he awoke, a hurried call to the bathroom revealed a most remarkable result. A closer investigation proved to be an immense tapeworm. It was then Mr. Brocker cried out in joy—At last, thank heaven, at last I am cured. This monster has been the cause of my years of misery. One dose of Quaker Extract removed it in exactly one hour and fifty minutes. I know now I am a well man once more. I feel it as I have no more gnawing sensations.

He then brought the worm to Hartigan's drug store, where it was found to be complete with head and consequently Mr. Brocker can never have a re-occurrence of his complaint. He is really and completely cured.

If you suffer from rheumatism, catarrh, stomach, liver or kidney troubles, call on the health teacher and let him tell you all about the Quaker remedies. He can be found daily at Hartigan's drug store, No. 81 Fairfield Ave. Do not delay your visit. If you cannot call order by mail. Quaker Extract, $1.00 per bottle, 2 for $2.50.

It costs nothing to talk with the health teacher, and he proves what he says.—Advertisement.
